

TRAILS
SUPERSTITION WILDERNESS

There is a network of some 170 miles of “system” trails serving the Superstition Wilderness Area and contiguous areas. Their condition varies from satisfactory to very poor. All trails are closed to motor vehicles and mechanical transport such as bikes.

Use a great deal of caution when traveling on backcountry trails such as this one and be aware of the risks you assume.

A few brief comments are in order about the following trail:

Peralta Trail 102: 6.2 miles in length. One of the more heavily-used trails in Arizona. From Peralta Trailhead to Fremont Saddle, the trail is often down to bedrock and provides difficult footing. Not recommended for horses. Elevation: between 2,400 - 3,760 feet. Termini: Peralta Trailhead (Forest Road 77) and Trail 104.

No more than 15 people are allowed to be in a group. No more than 15 head of livestock are allowed in a group.
